The dies of the above medals, (which were struck in pairs) have been destroyed. I bought 300, all that was left, and all that have been sold for several years, I believe have passed through my hands. These are positively the last that will ever be sold by me publicly. I have about 20 more left, which I will sell to collectors at one dollar each. Collectors will do well to secure the few that are left now.

NOTE.—In the preface of the Catalogue for my 15th Sale, a mistake occurs. The first Coin Sale ever held in Baltimore was on Dec. 1st, 1880, and not 1870. In justice to Mr. Joseph B. Burleigh, Jr, I wish to state that the Gilmore Marriage Medal referred to in the same Catalogue was sold at his Sale in this city, and not in mine as might be inferred.
